

When a construction contractor permanently affixes tangible personal property to real property, the contractor is deemed the end user of that tangible personal property. As the end user, the contractor incurs Use Tax on the cost price of that tangible personal property. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1940 and 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.2075. (This is a GIL.)

Dear Xxxxx:

This letter is in response to your letter dated March 3, 2009, in which you request information. The Department issues two types of letter rulings. Private Letter Rulings ("PLRs") are issued by the Department in response to specific taxpayer inquiries concerning the application of a tax statute or rule to a particular fact situation. A PLR is binding on the Department, but only as to the taxpayer who is the subject of the request for ruling and only to the extent the facts recited in the PLR are correct and complete. Persons seeking PLRs must comply with the procedures for PLRs found in the Department's regulations at 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.110. The purpose of a General Information Letter ("GIL") is to direct taxpayers to Department regulations or other sources of information regarding the topic about which they have inquired. A GIL is not a statement of Department policy and is not binding on the Department. See 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.120. You may access our website at www.tax.illinois.gov to review regulations, letter rulings and other types of information relevant to your inquiry.

The nature of your inquiry and the information you have provided require that we respond with a GIL. In your letter you have stated and made inquiry as follows:

ABC has opened an office in CITY, Illinois as of February 1, 2009.

We have been paying Missouri USE tax on buildings that ABC has erected in Missouri. Missouri Department of Revenue has informed us that we also need to pay Missouri USE tax on any buildings that ABC erects in Illinois due to the fact that the point of origin is Missouri.

Missouri Department of Revenue also informed us that we need to obtain a Letter of Ruling from Illinois.

DEPARTMENT'S RESPONSE:

A contract to incorporate tangible personal property into real property is considered a construction contract. The tax liabilities regarding construction contractors in Illinois may be found at 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1940 and 130.2075 on the Department's Internet website. The term construction contractor includes general contractors, subcontractors, and specialized contractors such as landscape contractors. If a person or business is contractually required to purchase tangible personal property for incorporation into real estate, then that person or business would be acting as a construction contractor.

In Illinois, construction contractors are deemed end users of tangible personal property purchased for incorporation into real property. As end users of such tangible personal property, contractors incur Use Tax liability for such purchases based upon the cost price of the tangible personal property. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1940 and 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.2075. If such contractors did not pay the Use Tax liability to their suppliers, those contractors must self assess their Use Tax liability and pay it directly to the Department. If the contractors have already paid a tax in another state regarding the purchase or use of such property, they will be entitled to a credit against their Illinois Use Tax liability to the extent that they have paid tax that was properly due to another state. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 150.310.

It is important to note that since construction contractors are the end users of the materials that they permanently affix to real estate, their customers incur no Use Tax liability and the construction contractors have no legal authority to collect the Use Tax from their customers. However, many construction contractors pass on the amount of their Use Tax liabilities to customers in the form of higher prices or by including provisions in their contracts that require customers to "reimburse" the construction contractor for his or her tax liability. Please note that this reimbursement cannot be billed to a customer as "sales tax," but can be listed on a bill as a reimbursement of tax. The choice of whether a construction contractor requires a tax reimbursement from the customer or merely raises his or her price is a business decision on the construction contractor's part.

Construction contractors incur Retailers' Occupation Tax liability when they engage in selling any kind of tangible personal property to purchasers without permanently affixing the tangible personal property to real estate, for example, a prefabricated storage shed. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1940(b)(1). Construction contractors can purchase such tangible personal property tax-free for resale by providing their suppliers with Certificates of Resale. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1405 and 130.2075(b).
